4 Ways to Plan for the Success of Newcomer ELLs

Nearly one out of four K-12 students in the United States is an immigrant or the child of immigrants, and many such students are English language learners (ELLs).
ELLs have a 68 percent high school completion rate nationwide, significantly lower than the national average for all students (85 percent).
Making schools welcoming sites for ELL students where they can learn and thrive, and where their families can engage, is key to ensuring educational access and success.

Some teachers are innovating by making classrooms inclusive and offering spaces representative of the different cultural and linguistic backgrounds of students, and some schools are creating multilingual access points and events for families.

Take, for example, the dozens of flags hanging from the ceiling of the cafeteria at Oakland International High School, where the student body hails from more than 35 countries, or the colorful mural (above) featuring images of people from all over the globe at Wellstone International High School in Minneapolis.

There are many ways that educators and schools can foster a sense of belonging and contribute to the educational success of immigrant and refugee students, many of whom are ELLs.

- Understand who your students are
- Make students feel welcome
- Take a trauma-informed approach
- Engage Families

The South Fort Myers Welding program has been working diligently on their next projects and certifications. These select students will also get to observe what their future in trade school for welding looks like, test amongst Manatee Tech students, and receive help from experienced teachers in the field. On March 4th, senior welding students will have the opportunity to compete at Tulsa Welding School in Jacksonville. The program just received a $25,000 grant which will be put towards new equipment, uniforms, and necessary materials.

Hello SFMHS Wolfpack Brigade and family! Since hurricane Ian, several events have been canceled or rescheduled. Our Veterans Day Parade and Raiders Zone competitions are canceled. Fortunately, we have the Edison Lights Parade coming up in February. There will be rescheduled events such as the Raiders District Competition on the 10th of December and our Cadet Ball is rescheduled for March 11th. On February 1st our brigade will take college bound juniors on a university trip. Cadets will also have an opportunity to join us on our annual adventure camp at Camp Miles; the weekend of 11th of February. Finally, in April we will celebrate our year of accomplishments at our annual Academy Award Ceremony.

Driver's Education

The Spring Saturday Driver Education class starts on Saturday, January 28, 2022.

The class will be held on:

- January 28
- February 4, 11, and 25
